

Gorgons

These three sisters had snakes for hair. According to legend, simply looking into their eyes instantly turned a person into stone. The Greek hero Perseus managed to kill one of the Gorgons, Medusa. He did so by sneaking up on her while she slept. He used a brightly polished shield as a mirror and backed toward her without looking at her directly. Then he cut off her head with a sword.