

Animalia

All animals, including insects, birds, reptiles, and mammals, are included in this kingdom. Animals have eukaryotic cells. While these organisms are the most common organisms people think of, they actually make up only a tiny portion of the total life on earth!